CALL OFF STRIKE, IS ORDER

DRYS LEAD BY 194 VOTES ON PROHIBITION RATIFICATION

PLEA OF UNCLE SAM
GRANTED BY FEDERAL
JUDGE A. B. ANDERSON

Action is Taken by Government
After United Mine Workers'
Motion For Continuance of Injunction Hearing is Denied in Federal Court at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 8.—Officials of the United Mine Workers of America must recall their strike order for a nation-wide strike of bituminous coal miners.

This was ordered here today by Judge Albert B. Anderson in federal court when he granted the plea of the government for an injunction directed against executives of the Mine Workers' organization in an effort to break the strike of 400,000 soft coal miners.

Judge Anderson gave the miners' officials until 6 o'clock next Tuesday evening to recall the strike order, which was sent to some four thousand local organizations.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 8.—Mandatory injunction ordering the executive officers of the United Mine Workers to cancel the strike order which caused 100,000 bituminous coal workers to drop their tools, was asked in federal court today by Judge C. B. Ames, assistant attorney general, after the court had denied the Mine Workers' petition for a continuance of the case for one week, to give the opposing factions an opportunity to effect an agreement. The temporary restraining order issued last week has not had the effect of "undoing the wrong that has been done," declared Judge Ames.

NO HALT TO STRIKE CASE
Government Plans to Proceed
Against Miners'
Leaders.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The government will proceed with its injunction proceedings against the leaders of the coal strike, it was stated today at the white house.

White house officials were informed that John L. Lewis, strike leader, had agreed to enter into negotiations with the operators for the settlement of the strike but had refused to rescind the strike call. It was announced that the strike order is rescinded the government will push its proceedings.

Officials refused to say whether the latest reports from Lewis as to his attitude would affect Attorney General Palmer's willingness to a postponement of the court proceedings.

"Watch Indianapolis" was the word.

CONFERENCE OF COUNTY
PROSECUTORS POSTPONED

Inability of U. S. Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer to attend the meeting, caused a postponement of the conference of Ohio county prosecutors and other officials Friday at Columbus.

Call for the meeting, issued by State Attorney General John G. Price, was received several days ago by Prosecuting Attorney Walter W. Beck, at Lisbon. Plans were to have been laid at the meeting for a second drive to reduce the high cost of living. Another attempt to hold the meeting will be made, Attorney General Price stated Saturday.

Another Attempt to Connect
Art Olson with Beaver Falls Hold-up.

HELD ON LARCENY COUNT

Chauffeur and Teller Fail to Identify 19-Year-Old Lad.

Another attempt to connect Art Olson, 19-year-old Pittsburg youth with the looting of the State Deposit bank in Beaver Falls, Pa., murder of a director and wounding of the cashier two weeks ago will be made in Pittsburg Saturday.

John Sakraida, of Beaver Falls, wounded cashier of the rifled bank, and Howard Moore, assistant cashier, were expected to go to Pittsburg in an effort to identify Olson as one of the three bandits. A. J. Bergman, Pittsburg chauffeur who drove the bandit's car and Herbert Piersol, teller Thursday failed to recognize Olson.

Olson was given a preliminary hearing Friday before Magistrate Sweeney and remanded to jail on a charge of larceny. Olson was not represented by counsel.

Patrolman Richard Foster, of the Pittsburg police force, carrying a bullet in an arm received July 14, when he frustrated an attempt to steal an automobile at Hale street and Hamilton avenue, Pittsburg Friday identified Olson, it is said, as the man who shot him. Foster failed to identify George Andrews. Olson and Andrews, police say, both have confessed the crime.

Lieutenant Mellon and Motorcycle Detectives McDonald and O'Rourke Friday continued their investigation to learn if Olson was correct in his identification of a photograph of a man sentenced to 10 years in the Eastern penitentiary under the name of Frank Moore. Moore is wanted here in connection with the operations of the gang, as is also George Ward, alleged "brains" of the auto bandits.

Captain Edeburn has instructed officials of the First National Bank of Bolivar, Pa., to lodge warrants against Olson and Andrews, who confessed complicity in an attempt to loot the bank. The prisoners will be arraigned in Allegheny county before being turned over to police outside the county.

FEDERAL MEN
RAID HANGOUTS
OF SUSPECTS
IN 17 CITIES

Prisoners Are Members of Union of Russian Workers.

ACCUSED ARE ALIENS

Literature, Guns, Material for Bombs and Red Flags Confiscated.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—More than two hundred "Reds" were arrested in the general roundup of "radicals" which began last night, the department of justice announced today.

All of those arrested are members of the Union of Russian Workers, the department announced.

This organization, it was stated, has more than 7,000 members in this country with many local unions and has been actively engaged in a widespread propaganda for the overthrow of the government. The dragnet was extended to cover more than fifteen industrial centers in the United States, the department announced.

All of those arrested in the widespread raids are aliens, the department announced today, and their deportation will be asked for.

Attorney General Palmer directed the roundup, it was stated, and he had the co-operation of Anthony Caminetti, commissioner of immigration. Reports to the department of justice today stated that the roundup had resulted in the confiscation of thousands of pieces of literature urging the overthrow of the government, many guns and revolvers, complete material for the manufacture of bombs and red flags.

In Newark, N. J., two of the active members of the Union of Russian Workers were apprehended with a complete counterfeiting outfit and a large supply of counterfeit bank notes. Additional charges will be made against these men.

Romay Mosichok, an organizer for the Union of Russian Workers, was arrested at Trenton, N. J., and had in his possession complete material for the manufacture of bombs. Mosichok admitted that he was a member of the union.

Raids were reported to the department to have been held in New York, Chicago, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, Akron, O.; Youngstown, O.; Baltimore, Newark, N. J.; Hartford, Conn.; Waterbury, Conn.; Ansonia, Conn.; Bridgeport, Conn.; New Haven, Conn., and Seymour, Conn.

The department of justice has been gathering evidence against the Union of Russian Workers for more than two months, it was announced.

RECOUNT IN STATE
WILL BE NECESSARY
ON FEDERAL MEASUR

Tabulations Based on Official and Unofficial Returns From 88
Counties, With Seven Precincts
Missing, Give Anti-Saloon Cause
Majority on National Prohibition.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—A dry lead of 194 votes in favor of ratification of national prohibition was disclosed today by new tabulations at Secretary of State Smith's office.

These tabulations were based upon official and unofficial returns from all of Ohio's 88 counties with only seven precincts, in Logan and Morgan counties, missing.

The new totals are:
For ratification, 497,435; against, 497,241.

The revision of the totals is due to the substitution of official for unofficial returns as fast as the official figures are received by the secretary of state from the various county election boards.

Up to 10 o'clock this morning, this substitution of returns had resulted in a dry gain of 250 votes.

Ohio's election estimates Saturday on issues other than ratification stood:
Crabbe act—defeated by about 25,000 votes.
Repeal of state-wide prohibition—defeated by about 30,000.

Two and three-quarters per cent beer and wine—defeated by about 15,000 votes.

If these estimates hold good, the drys have won everything except the referendum on the Crabbe prohibition enforcement act.

That the result on ratification is "too close for safe prediction" and that it will require the final official count to determine the result is the joint decision reached by Supt. White, of the Anti-Saloon league, and Manager Gibson, of the Ohio Home Rule association.

This means that it will probably be a week or ten days before it is definitely known whether Ohio has ratified national prohibition or not.

SETTLE ISSUE ON BUILDING

A final settlement between the Lisbon school board and contractors reached Friday afternoon, when F. M. Sayer, president of the contracting company, and Attorney Harrison, of Columbus, met with the board.

There was delay and considerable controversy over the erection of the building. The contract was let in 1915 and was to have been completed within a little over a year. Later the time was extended. Parts of the building that had been put up were ordered torn down and rebuilt. The original bond issue was for $70,000, and it was confidently predicted that an additional bond issue would be necessary. The contract price for the building was $55,526, without the heating and plumbing equipment and exclusive of all equipment. The heating and plumbing cost $2,639. The equipment an additional $2,090, besides the incidental expenses, the pay of the architect, etc.

The situation developed to such a point that an additional inspector had to be placed on the work, and George B. Beatty of Pittsburgh was selected by the board and under an agreement he was to be paid by the board and then the board was to be reimbursed by the contractor and architect, Frank L. Packard of Columbus. The bonding company that was on the contract failed in the meantime, and the board having the big end of the money and the building in its hands decided that it would be best to hold all money until a final statement was reached. This was done. The contractors paid for the inspection, for correcting defects, the expense of renting an outside school room owing to the delay, and all other expense and the board has cleaned everything up and has about $2,000 out of the original bond issue for equipment of the manual training department.

DR. CHETWYND STOPS SALE OF RIPE OLIVES

Orders One Brand Withdrawn From Store Shelves.

STATE BOARD ORDER

Action Follows Fatal Poisoning Cases In Canton and Detroit.

In compliance with instructions contained in a letter from Dr. A. W. Freeman, of Columbus, state commissioner of health, Dr. J. W. Chetwynd, city health officer, Saturday ordered the discontinuance of the sale of ripe olives of one particular brand in East Liverpool.

The order issued jointly by the health department, and the Dairy and Food Division of the Department of Agriculture, recommends that Dr. Chetwynd "force the withdrawal from sale of any ripe olives of this brand that may be found on the market" and suggests that the health officer "either examine samples of the various brands in your own laboratory or send them to the laboratory of this department for examination."

But few cans of ripe olives are on sale in East Liverpool stores Dr. Chetwynd said. Three samples of ripe olives have been taken by Dr. Chetwynd for analysis. One of these will be examined and the other two sent to Columbus.

The statewide probe into the olives on sale in Ohio is the outgrowth of the fatal dinner party at the Lakeside Country Club, Canton, August 23 in which seven deaths resulted and a similar tragedy in Detroit, Mich. Deaths in both instances, the state health authorities discovered, were due to eating of tainted ripe olives.

HARVARD TWO TO ONE FAVORITE SATURDAY

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 8.—Cold, clammy weather, with a raw wind and a hint of rain in the air greeted the thousands of persons who began straggling into Princeton this morning to view the renewal of football hostilities between Harvard and Princeton, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The Crimson team was a heavily played favorite in the betting this forenoon. The betting was brisk with Harvard backers offering 2 to 1 and 5 to 3. The odds were eagerly snapped up by Tiger backers.

The Tigers will go in today's game without the services of Stanley Keck, one of the mainstays of the Orange line.

REPORT HITS CAPITAL, LABOR

Scathing Indictment Is Returned by Senate Labor Committee.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The senate labor committee's report on the great steel strike made public here today, embodies the most scathing indictment of the relations between capital and labor that has fallen from the pen of statesmen in years.

Declaring that the real victim in all industrial disputes is the public and that "it is not to the credit of our nation that no way has been devised to settle these disputes outside of strikes," the committee goes beyond the strict limits of the duties imposed upon it by the senate and proposes the establishment of a federal industrial commission with large powers of compulsory investigation and of mediation, conciliation and recommendations.

Furthermore, asserting that a large percentage of the strikes are foreign-born and illiterate and the proposition is made that the good among them be educated, assisted in the purchase of homes and otherwise encouraged, while "those who come for the purpose of stirring up trouble against this government and attempting to undermine it and overthrow it, should be escorted to the water edge and shipped back to the land from which they came."

SEEK BIDS ON SCHOOL BONDS

Board of Education to Sell $141,000 Worth of Bonds.

Bonds amounting to $141,000 issued by the board of education to liquidate outstanding indebtedness and provide funds for future expenditures up until 1921 will be offered at public sale, George H. Faulk, clerk of the board of education, announced Saturday.

The bonds will be advertised Nov. 11, bids to be received up until Nov. 27. The securities were first offered to the Ohio industrial commission, but were rejected. The only other alternative in disposing of the bonds is by public sale.

The bond issue authorized by the board of education here was taken under provisions of the new emergency relief measure enacted by the Ohio general assembly to afford some aid to financially embarrassed city and school districts. A budget setting forth the city's school needs up until 1921, together with all outstanding indebtedness, was drawn up by Clerk Faulk and ratified by the board of education.

At a meeting of the board of education the latter part of this week a resolution was passed authorizing the borrowing of sufficient money from local banks in anticipation of this bond issue to meet teachers' and janitors' salaries and other current expenses.

Appointment of Miss Marion Howe and Miss Elizabeth Hartford as elementary teachers and Miss Esther Furrer as cadet teachers were confirmed by the board at the meeting.

SEAL MINE SHAFT IN EFFORT TO STOP FIRE

BICKNELL, Ind., Nov. 8.—After a night of frantic effort, rescue parties today succeeded in sealing the shafts of American Mine No. 1, said to be the largest in the bituminous field of the United States, in an effort to smother flames which burst out in the bowels of the mine last night. Rescue parties were unable to reach the fire. A score of engineers who had been in the mine all day, departed shortly before the fire was discovered. The eight thousand miners normally employed are idle because of the strike. No one was working in the mine when the fire was detected. The mine probably will remain sealed a month and it is expected the loss will be enormous.

EXPECT 1,000 IN ROLL CALL

"We expect to have over 1,000 additional members to the Wellsville Red Cross chapter before the close of the day."

This was the statement Saturday by Mrs. F. S. Wade, chairman of the third annual roll call of the local organization. A total of $49 new members was reported by workers who have been canvassing the residential districts this week, at a meeting of the committee workers Friday night.

No reports were made early Saturday, but indications pointed to a banner day in the campaign here. It is the intention of the local organization to add at least 2,000 new names to the list of Red Cross members here before the close of the campaign next Tuesday. With the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad shops and the American Sheet and Tin Plate plant and numerous other industrial concerns to be heard from, officials were of the opinion that that number would be reached. The canvassing at these places has been left in the hands of the plant officials and it is likely that reports will be made either Saturday evening or Monday, said Mrs. Wade.

In order to keep her standing in this district Wellsville must make up a loss of from four to five hundred members, it was announced Saturday. Mrs. Wade. This fact was made known when Ironville and other rural communities in that district joined the Jefferson county campaign. Included in the Wellsville members of the Red Cross were at least four hundred from that part of Jefferson county who will be lost this year. During the war Ironville officials of the organization found it easier to work with the local chapter and for this reason turned in all members to the credit of Wellsville chapter.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Red Cross Friday evening officials were elected as follows: B. J. Ross, chairman; Mrs. F. S. Wade, vice-president; W. A. Sneider, treasurer; Miss Nan Stevenson, secretary; P. T. Dunn, chairman of civilian relief activities; Mrs. T. W. Butler, chairman of publicity committee, and Mrs. R. H. Mick, chairman of the nursing activities committee.

PUP MOURNING DEATH OF PAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Blooded airdales and the Knights of Dogdom have mourned the loss of their mates in a manner calling often for the eulogy of poets, but nature took a queer twist here when a Topsy mongrel mourned the demise of its pal, a pig, the other day.

The pup and the pig were inseparable. From the day when they simultaneously arrived on the "farmette" of an Italian family at Monte Vista they played and romped together. Pup would chase his own tail and piggy's curly appendage around the pen from sunup to sundown; he snapped at piggy's snout and he frayed his pointed ears until the day came when "this little pig went to market."

The butcher slaughtered the pup's pal. They locked the dog in the bathroom during the slaughter. When he emerged he growled and barked and wouldn't touch food days later, nearly starved, he condescended to eat a little beefsteak. But when they started to give him a bit of ham from the shanks of his pal he turned surly again and hasn't eaten now for three days.

It's all true. Every word of it.

Recommends Americanization In Schools and Institutions of State.

In response to a telegram sent to Governor Cox by East Liverpool Post No. 4, American Legion, urging that he designate Armistice Day, November 11, a legal holiday, an official copy of the governor's proclamation has just been received at American Legion post headquarters here.

The telegram to the governor, signed by W. S. Foulks, post commander reads: "The members of East Liverpool post, No. 4, American Legion request that you set aside November 11th, Armistice Day, as a legal holiday in honor of our comrades who made the supreme sacrifice and in celebration of the greatest military victory ever accomplished in the history of the world and that the day be designated American Legion day in honor of the national organization of men who fought in the great war and who are now united to stand by our country in the present crisis and to build a greater America for Americans."

Governor Cox's proclamation reads: The actual end of battle in the war with Germany was marked by the signing of the armistice, November 11, 1918. In America a people grateful for the outcome, not less wearied by the contest than were those across the seas worn out, celebrated by demonstration such as seldom had been seen.

We now approach the anniversary of that day with renewed gratitude to those who made the winning of the war possible, but after a lapse of time in which there has been impressed upon us the growth of a dangerous germ again we must look to those who fought overseas to aid in the spread here of peaceful means of the glorious Americanism for which they fought. There have come among us hundreds of thousands of aliens, non-understanding of our laws and ignorant of our ideals to whom we must give attention here which must be stamped out; and I, therefore, James M. Cox, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of Ohio, call upon the citizenry of the state for suitable observance of

for the expression of renewed thanks to those who fought for us; and urge that special Americanization programs in connection therewith be held in the public schools and institutions of the state that the day be made of special significance by the American Legion and kindred organizations for the further extension of Americanizations among our alien population.

Battle Between Tooth Pastes

Who Will Settle the Argument. Let Your Druggist be the Referee.

It must be perplexing to the reader to decide which of the claims are logical and which are unsupported when he reads the glowing advertisements of the various manufacturers of Tooth Paste.

One maker's product lays stress on the flavor. Another claims to "remove the film." Still another leaves a "clean feeling." Another calls attention to the teeth of wild animals and is reputed to be highly antiseptic.

After reading all carefully, the intelligent person decides to refer the matter to the court of last resort for the true answer. The Druggist is the one whom the physicians and dentist relies upon to furnish expert advice on the action of chemicals. Why, therefore, is he not the person for you to trust? Long years of patient training and a knowledge of the relative value of the various ingredients in all chemical products have fitted him to express an opinion. He knows because he is qualified to know.

Something over 8,000 druggists and physicians in this country belong to national association known as the American Druggists Syndicate. The national formula committee of this great association met annually in conference for 10 consecutive years in order to select the best formulas for household remedies to be manufactured in their own great laboratories maintained at Long Island City.

One of their well known preparations is A. D. S. Peridox Tooth Paste which has been endorsed by leading dentists in every state of the nation. Your druggist will tell you that it enjoys a fast repeating sale and its claim as a perfect product is briefly stated when he tells you that "besides doing all that any other tooth paste can do, Peridox whitens like peroxide."

Large production of this remarkable preparation enables you to still purchase the large tube at the old price—25 cents. Try a tube today and be convinced.

FOLLOW YOUR NOSE.

It is not the cold-pack method of canning that is responsible for the deaths caused by the bacillus botulinus poisoning, say government experts. It is using decayed products. The botulism bug is the cause of active decay in canned food.

Proper precautions in canning by the cold-pack process—or any other, for that matter—require the absolute elimination of all rotting matter. Even if all germs are destroyed, there remains the question which Dr. Harvey Wiley has for so many years been asking, "Do you really want to eat sterilized filth?"

And when decaying matter enters the can, there is always the danger that enough of the little botulinus bugs will escape destruction to make trouble for the eater later on.

When the food is once canned, and is served without the consumer's knowledge of the methods used, the nose is the one sure guide. If the food seems in any way unpleasant to the smell, don't eat it. The same rule applies in the kitchen, of course. Food about which there is any question at all is not good food. It is the worst economy in the world to fix up any doubtful food with sauces to disguise the taste and smell. The cost of replacing the discarded articles will almost always be less than one doctor's fee. And if the botulinus bug gets hold of you, the comparison is not with one doctor's fee but with several, and perhaps a nurse or hospital bill, and almost inevitably the undertaker's to finish with. Far cheaper and better it would be to throw away the food and buy new.

The economy comes in discarding anything dirty, wilted or partly rotted before it goes into the can at all, and in refusing to buy brands which are not accompanied with a guarantee of cleanliness in their manufacture.

SOLDIER-CITIZENS.

A newspaper report of the election returns in one of the states where the liquor traffic was an issue says:

"Returns indicate that the returned soldiers voted exactly in the same proportion as other citizens. In wet territory the majority of soldiers voted wet, and likewise in dry territory the majority of them voted dry."

It is exactly what might have been expected. Human nature is not changed by a little war experience, even in foreign lands. Neither is the American character or the American attitude toward public affairs changed. There is a somewhat broader view, but the fundamentals remain the same. The soldier is still a member of his community, feeling, thinking and voting according to his bringing up and the general community sentiment.

It is much the same with the feminine vote. There has been a good deal of talk about "sex solidarity," about women forming their own party and hanging together in politics. But nothing much comes of it. When there is a practical test, it is found that the women vote pretty much as the men do, the majority of them voting the Republican ticket in strongly Republican communities and the Democratic ticket in Democratic communities, and voting independently where independence is the rule. They are citizens first and women afterward, just as the war veterans are citizens first and soldiers afterward.

Public opinion, community sentiment, vague and intangible as it is, proves to be the real thing back of all the accidents of experience and sex, and somehow it gets itself expressed unflinching.

THE FOOD GAMBLERS.

Some of the self-satisfied economists who have been prating about the omnipotence of the "law of supply and demand" have been rather discredited by recent developments.

It is true that this so-called law automatically regulates prices, and does it on the whole satisfactorily—when it is allowed to work unhindered. The trouble comes when people insist on interfering with it. And this troublesome meddling is not by any means confined to legislative bodies and executive departments of government, as some of the critics have maintained. There has been some very mischievous meddling done recently, in a manner not at all unusual, by speculators.

Herbert Hoover has called attention to this fact. Testifying before a congressional committee, he gave it as his opinion that one of the main causes of high prices in this country has been the cornering of food by speculators who stored it in expectation of big profits, either abroad or at home. It worked after the familiar manner. These profiteering gamblers, professing merely to "hold the stuff for a rise in price," by their very act of hoarding forced the rise, through the artificial scarcity they created.

There have been many revelations of late corroborating this statement. Food has been found stored in vast quantities along the eastern seaboard, especially in the vicinity of New York, including hundreds of thousands of tons of the sugar for which the American market has been starving.

The gamblers should be forced to disgorge these hoards; then the economic law will do the rest.

As the result of the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Redfield it is gradually coming out that he was being undermined in his influence by the efforts of Director of Railways Hines, assisted by the president's son-in-law, ex-Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. He formed a commission to regulate steel prices, and after all his pains Hines refused to abide by it. Piqued at the president's refusal to take his part against the attitude of a lesser official, he quit.

All first-class mail matter deposited in any postoffice for delivery within the limits of that postoffice district will be carried hereafter at the rate of one cent for each ounce or fraction thereof, if a bill introduced by Representative Martin B. Madden, of Illinois, a Republican member of the committee on postoffices and post roads, is enacted into law.

The sugar shortage wouldn't be so bad if the candy manufacturers—who always seem to have all the sugar they need—would turn out candy suitable for use in tea, coffee and puddings, and not messed up with all sorts of impossible flavors.

NEW YORK LETTER

NEW YORK, Saturday, Nov. 8.—By O. O. McINTYRE.

I have been away from New York.

For a little while.

And coming under the river.

I sang a song of gladness.

To be back again.

For although it is.

The meanest of cities.

It is also the mightiest.

I love the crowds.

The many millions.

That struggle and blend.

And fuse.

And I love the massive.

Steel buildings.

Gaunt against the sky.

The trans that flash.

Through the earth.

Roar under the rivers.

Climb out over trestles.

Sun in the clouds.

I love the roarings.

Of asphalt and cobblestones.

The din of the factories.

Where untired thousands.

Slave day and night.

There is a joy.

In the staccato coughs.

Of the ferries and tugs.

And the crash of avenues.

Ablaze with light.

There is a new thrill.

In the dazzling signs.

Etched against the sky.

There is an inspiration.

In the pomp and show.

Its vulgar extravagances.

Its pride and energy.

Ambition and soul.

And even its sordidness.

I even thanked.

A little Simian runt.

Who drove me home.

In his little trap taxi.

And overcharged me.

By seventy-five cents.

But it is just the same.

Wherever you live.

I used to feel the same way.

When I'd go back.

To my little home town.

Where they didn't.

Have skyscrapers.

And things like that.

In fact, I believe.

It is a pretty fair world.

Wherever we are.

PUT NAMES OF YANKS ON BRONZE TABLET

A beautiful bronze tablet, measuring 20x30 inches, bearing the names of the 18 members of the lodge which served with the United States army, navy or marines, during the world war will be erected in the lodge temple, by East Liverpool lodge, No. 379, I. O. O. F.

The tablet made by a Detroit concern, arrived this week and was first placed on display at the regular meeting of the lodge, held Friday evening, when more than 100 members were in attendance.

The committee, which completed the purchase of the tablet, was left to decide where it shall be placed. The lobby of the first floor of the building and the lodge room have been suggested as the most logical place for the tablet. It is probable that some sort of a ceremony will be held when this marker is finally placed upon the walls of the building.

Three candidates received the initiatory degree at Friday evening's meeting.

RUSSIAN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA HERE NOV. 15

The second big concert announced for East Liverpool, to be given by the Russian Symphony Orchestra next Saturday evening November 15th, promises to equal in popularity the Schumann-Heink concert given last month.

In addition to the orchestra of sixty players under Modest Altschuler, two soloists will be featured in Miss Helen Thomas, the popular young soprano of this city, and Sascha Fiedelman, Russian violinist. The Russian Symphony Orchestra ranks today as one of the leading symphonic organizations in the country. They are well known annual engagement at the old Pittsburgh exposition where many journey every season to hear them. Their special engagement in Pittsburgh two seasons ago for a concert for the benefit of the Soldiers' Tobacco Fund filled the large Syrian Mosque to capacity, and netted the fund over $5,000. Modest Altschuler is one of the most popular conductors in the United States, and the capacity of the Ceramic theater will be taxed to overflow for this event, for it will mark the first appearance in this city of a celebrated Orchestra.

The first announcement today of the program is also of special interest. The concert will open with a Russian Symphony in G minor by Kalinoff. Helen Thomas whose work has attracted the attentions of the well known eastern critics, has chosen the beautiful "Bird Song" aria from "Pagliacci" which she will sing with orchestral accompaniment. Sascha Fiedelman, the violin soloist, will play Vieuxtemps "Ballade et Polonaise," and other favorite orchestra numbers including Thomas' Overture "Raymond," and two Caucasian Sketches by Ippolitoff Ivanhoff.

DAILY RECIPE

Bread and Bacon.

Slices of bread that are too old to be eaten with butter may be cut into squares and fried with bacon for breakfast or supper. They absorb the fat from the bacon which would otherwise be wasted and will serve to make the dish go farther, as children relish fried bread quite as much as bacon.

Moderately stale bread also does well for making toast, the perfect condition of which depends on the slow withdrawal of superfluous moisture from the bread.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.

Big Lot of Hay Fever Jokes

But Kentucky Man Says—"People Who Belong to Hay Fever Colony are Kidding Themselves."

Wouldn't Be Any Rose or Hay Fever if Simple Home Remedy Was Given a Chance.

"Yes, there's a real NINETY-NINE per cent effective remedy for hay or rose fever," frankly states a druggist in a prosperous Kentucky city.

"But I don't expect anyone to believe me, because the treatment is so easy and the cost not worth mentioning."

"The annual crop of hay-fever jokes would be mighty scarce if people would get an ounce of Mentholized Arcine and by just adding water that has been boiled make a pint of liquid that will prove a real help to all who suffer."

"Many of my hay-fever friends tell me that by starting to gargle and sniff or spray the nostrils a few times a day the expected severe attack often fails to appear and in cases where it does show up is very mild and does not annoy."

"The Better Class of Pharmacists" who dispense Mentholized Arcine say it will greatly modify any attack even when taken three or four days after hostilities begin.

Go to a real live druggist when you get ready to make a pint.

Then if your energy and endurance haven't doubled, if your mind isn't keener and eyes brighter, if you don't feel twice as ambitious as before, any druggist anywhere will return the purchase price—gladly and freely.

Why I Ran Away from England

"Too Many Idle Girls Over There," Says Plucky Elsi Wilson, Who Stowed Away as a Stoker and Got to America at Last, Only to Be Held Up by the Authorities.

By HELEN HOFFMAN

HOW would you feel about being a girl in a country where there seemed to be too many of you? Would you want to run away to some other place where they wanted you? Would you be willing to undergo all sorts of hardships to accomplish your purpose?

Elsi Wilson, a 22-year-old English girl, did want to get away from England. She is of the stuff heroines are made of, even if government officials, obeying necessary rules, have been against her on both sides of the Atlantic.

Of the big number of stowaways who have made desperate efforts to seek a new life here, far from the misery and hunger of war-torn Europe, Miss Wilson's case seems to be unique.

After many attempts, Miss Wilson finally succeeded in arriving in New York on an American transport. Disguised in a flannel shirt and pair of overalls, which a friendly American sailor had provided for her in Liverpool, she shovelled coal on the way over.

Mrs. Pankhurst, Who Says That After-the-War Conditions in England Have Set up a Grave Problem for Women.

This young woman's experiences in trying to get away from suffering England, where she says she was unable to obtain work of any sort, reads like a movie thriller. And the best part of Miss Wilson's experience is that it is real, very real, indeed.

For two years of war Miss Wilson, a pretty blonde girl of the buxom English type, was a member of the famous army of W. A. A. C.'s, numbering upwards of 50,000 women, otherwise known as the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, which supported the British lines in Flanders by doing all sorts of work, from repairing motors to cooking for the army.

Plenty of Self-Reliance

This experience had the effect of instilling in Miss Wilson a great self-reliance. In fact, I never met a young woman possessed of a more goodly supply of self-confidence. At the same time this young adventurer, for she may rightly be called an adventurer in the same sense that Christopher Columbus is so spoken of, holds a cheerful, unquenchable faith in the kindly determination of fate.

She hasn't much knowledge of the fine technicalities of international law as applied to immigration matters, but she is learning. She has seen men win out by a hair's breadth of good luck in the fighting zone and she has youth and its optimism and a splendid vitality. And this is the prime reason, she says, she had for leaving England.

"Here I am, a strong young woman," she explained, "and I was anxious to work, but things

"We climbed into two of the empty coffins. . . . Down there in the hold we felt every motion of the huge, battling waves. Miss Lewis got sick. She was awfully sick. That night when the boys let down some food I tied a note to the end of the rope."

The Stowaway's Arrest.

are so dull in England there is nothing for a woman to do."

In this complaint the young stowaway echoed the sentiments expressed to me recently by Mrs. Pankhurst, England's militant suffragist, who is lecturing here now.

Referring to the women of England—women who won the admiration of the British government and the world by their wonderful war service—Mrs. Pankhurst said:

"Before women were employed in any large numbers in England in war work, the labor unions got the government to promise that when hostilities ended the women would give way to the men. During these years of war women have become skilled workers and their employers like them. They have not, as the labor unions feared, tried to 'under-salary' the men. They have held up the standard of work and wages, but today they are out of employment, thousands of them. So serious has the situation become that women of wealth who worked with these women in munitions and other war industries, are discussing the advisability of opening factories to give employment to these women. There is not enough work now; not enough factories running to employ all the women who are seeking work."

Having talked with Mrs. Pankhurst, I understood Miss Wilson's plight.

"There is a large family of us," explained Miss Wilson, "consisting of five children. My father, a railroad engineer, does not earn large wages."

Taking the Chance

"I live just outside of Liverpool. After being home for two months after the war ended, I had become so discouraged by January, I decided to take the great risk and come to America. I had heard a great deal of this country from some American sailors I met in Liverpool. They told me there was lots of work to be had here and that the wages were good. They are much higher than they are at home."

"So in January I chanced it," Miss Wilson went on to explain. "I had met a young woman, Miss Daisy Lewis, from Jacksonville, Fla. She had been doing war work in France and she was anxious to get home, but she had spent all her money."

"I asked her, 'Are you game?' and she said 'Yes.'"

"I cut my hair, and dressed as longshoremen, we sneaked aboard an American transport in Liverpool. With the aid of the American sailors who promised to see us through, we hid in the hold of the ship. There were 100 empty coffins down there, and one of them held the body of a young sailor who had died that day. We climbed into two of the empty coffins and drew the lid over us. The only ventilation was the shaftway, which our friends tried to keep open for us. But we did not starve. The sailors let down on the end of a rope to us sandwiches, fruit and chocolate."

"On our way to Brest, a bad storm broke, and down there in the hold we felt every little motion of the huge, battling waves. If it hadn't been for that storm I am sure I would be an American citizen by now."

"But that is the tragedy of this, my first attempt. Miss Lewis got awfully sick. So that night, when the boys let down some food, I tied a note on the end of the rope, telling them I was afraid she would have to have a doctor or she might die. The ship's doctor took care of her that night."

"The next day we arrived in Brest. Since then Miss Lewis has married the captain of an American transport, and the last I heard of her she was in England. Being a British subject, I was taken by the authorities and sent to London. They were kind to me and gave me the money to go home, with the understanding that I would stay there. I intended to at the time."

"Again I hunted for employment. After a few weeks I grew desperate and the idea of going to America took complete possession of my thoughts. I managed an acquaintance with some American sailors in Liverpool and they offered to help me. Again they fitted me out with a longshoreman's costume and I got aboard the American transport Harrisburg. But before she sailed a petty officer spied me out and reported me."

"I was arrested and the magistrate told me he would give me five years if I ever tried it again. I was set free on a year's probation."

"Meantime, I got some few small jobs of substituting in shops, but the pay was almost nothing and the desire grew again to get to America."

"I tried to get passage as a stewardess, but failed. By August my mind was made up. I would go to America and, if necessary, sacrifice my life in making the attempt."

Becomes a Coal Passer

"Again, through the friendship of some American sailors, I was able to get aboard the Plattsburg, disguised as a coal passer. We worked four hours on and eight hours off."

At this point in her narrative Miss Wilson bared her arm. It was a good strong arm, but much too white and shapely to pass for an assistant to an experienced stoker. However, this time, the third attempt to reach the promised land, Miss Wilson was successful. When she walked off the ship in the Brooklyn docks she breathed freely. The lights blinked a welcome to this courageous English girl; the very atmosphere seemed charged with friendliness and strengthened faith for the future.

I spoke of the determination she had exercised. "Oh, that was nothing," she laughed softly. "I wasn't the only girl, you know."

"You weren't!" I gasped incredulously, after listening to the story of this young explorer.

"Oh, no," she explained calmly, "there were eight others. They were disguised as coal passers, too, and all of us got through without being discovered. I think all of these girls were engaged to American sailors or soldiers here and have left New York to meet the boys in other towns and cities."

Surely the English girls are maintaining the high reputation they won during the war for courage, endurance and initiative.

Captured in Am.

So far as Miss Wilson's pluck is concerned it might be thought that it deserved a better fate. She did get to America. She took off her sailor clothes. And then one of the detectives who had been tracing the stowaways caught her.

A hand came on her shoulder.

"You are the Wilson girl?"

She admitted that she was. And then off to the detention pen. Popular sympathy favored her. Men wrote offering to marry her. But one who was most insistent did not appear in time. The law had to be vindicated. Laws are not made for individuals, but for the mass, and mass necessities made it essential that England and America should play each another's game fairly. Thus the final ruling was that Miss Wilson, after all her desperate efforts, must go back. At this writing there seems little likelihood that the ruling will be reversed. If only the young man who saw the picture and heard the story had arrived in time—and had been permitted by the girl herself and by the officials to marry her!

Yet I don't doubt, and I don't believe that you doubt either, that the girl will win at last. Such fighting qualities, such endurance and persistence do seem to deserve some special reward. The reward of being able at last to be an American might be about the right thing. Who knows? Perhaps it will happen.

LINSLEY CADETS VICTORS, 32 TO 7

New Cumberland's chances for the scholastic championship of the Ohio valley went glimmering Friday afternoon when the representative high school eleven of the Hancock county seat went down to defeat at the hands of the Linsley Cadets on the State fair grounds at Wheeling by the score of 32 to 7.

Simon was the only man of the visitors that shown brilliantly in the limelight. On offense he would circle the ends, and make good substantial gains through the line without any aid from the backfield partners. When Linsley appeared on the field, all the confidence of a victor, shown during their light signal drill. Storer kicked off to Simon who received the ball on his own five yard line. He fumbled the catch and before he could get started three Linsley men had attempted to bring him to earth but they found this no easy matter, for although he staggered, he held his balance, and walked through the entire Linsley defense for the only touchdown for New Cumberland. He kicked an easy goal.

The only thing that the visitors lacked was a kicker. Simon made an attempt to boot the ball, when it was necessary to kick, but three times his kicks were blown, and two of them resulted in touchdowns. His kicks were always low, and were badly above the line of scrimmage. Summary:

WAR VETERANS ARE READY FOR LEGION MEET

Service Men Will Meet in Minneapolis November
10.

OVER 3,000 DELEGATES
Will Represent Over One Million Veterans of Great Conflict.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—On the basis of latest membership reports from national headquarters of the American Legion in New York the delegates to the first national convention of the Legion, to be held in Minneapolis November 10, 11 and 12, will number around the 3,000 mark, 1,000,000 veterans of the great war.

The Legion office in Minneapolis is a veritable beehive of industry in preparation for this big event. To accommodate such a host of persons other than delegates are expected to attend the convention and already appeals are being sent out to Minneapolisians to open their homes to these visiting ex-soldiers during the gathering.

Marshal Foch, the supreme commander of the Allied forces, is slated to be in attendance particularly on November 11, the anniversary of the signing of the armistice, when there will be a gala celebration. In the event of Marshal Foch's inability to be present, Legion officials have been assured that he will be represented by General Petain or some other distinguished military officer.

Something for every delegate and visitor to do every minute of the time is the basis on which the entertainment committee is working out the convention programme. Colonel Fred B. Wells, chairman, is probably the busiest man in the city, but he promises to have everything licked into shape with true military precision when November 11 rolls around.

The Civic and Commerce Association also is taking a particularly active part in the preparations. In the first place, the association will present to every visiting delegate a medal bearing the official insignia of the Legion in blue enamel and bronze, surmounted by a bronze eagle and the insignia of the land and water forces. In addition, the association is assisting in the planning of the November 11 celebration and in obtaining accommodations for visitors.

The constitution adopted at St. Louis provides that each state and Territory and the District of Columbia shall be entitled to four delegates and to four alternates and one additional delegate and one alternate for each 1,000 paid-up memberships thirty days prior to the national convention. In addition, each state may send a delegate at large a number equal only to the total number of delegates to which each state or Territory is entitled to on membership basis.

All delegates have not been selected as many states have yet to hold their respective conventions. In fact, these State meetings will not be concluded until the end of October.

Considerable interest is attached to the slogan—"Politics, Not Politics"—of the American Legion, the largest war veterans' organization in history. A request recently to the Legion for an interpretation of the slogan brought forth the following reply, which indicates what its policies will be:

"While the American Legion adheres to its slogan, it conceivably will have a great deal to do with politics, but not with the narrow partisan politics. The Legion was conceived and it is being built of a business and soundness far above that. But it is going to take cognizance of what is sound practice in the political re-adjustment of the country. Its members are not

Misses Violet de Biccary, who will appear at the Ceramic in person playing, on the stage, the big scenes from "The House Without Children," Robert McLaughlin's Ohio made photo-drama, which requires the combined scope of the stage and screen for its presentation. The film introduces, for the first time, the dissolving screen which enables the motion picture to fade from view and the stage setting to take its place.

AT the Theatres

STAR PREFERS STAGE TO WORK BEFORE CAMERA

"Motion pictures are all right, but give me the stage," says Violet de Biccary, who is coming here to appear in person, in connection with the presentation of "The House Without Children."

"Yes I have done a lot of work before the camera, but I'm frank to confess that I'm like the rest of them. The money lured me away from the stage."

"Films, except under exceptional circumstances, do not, in the least, appeal to me."

"The click of the camera can never mean the same to an actress as a live, responsive audience. We all need the applause and the camera does not furnish that very necessary inspiration."

"It's all so mechanical, he director says 'shoot', and you stand before going to wink at political flabbiness and political rottenness. Nor are they going to temperize with public or would-be public servants whose Americanism is found tainted with suspicion."

"The word has gone out already—national headquarters sent it to every one of the 3,000 posts urging vigorous office whose loyalty to America has been brought in question. The question of party affiliations is not of the slightest moment or consideration. This is entirely a matter of policy and sound practice."

a cool, calm and calculating camera man turning a crank; and you register emotion, or joy, or what ever the case may be. Without an audience to make you feel your part, it's all very empty. To act without an audience is like having a cherry and no cocktail to put it into.

"Before I was, so to speak, thrust myself in my work on the stage. I played the title role in 'The Littlest Rebel', with Dustin Farnum, and would have loved to have played that part forever. Unfortunately, however I grew up."

"The Happy Ending' was another play I loved to do. Then 'The Things That Count', never once grew stale, although we appeared in it, night after night, for a whole year, at William A. Brady's Playhouse, New York. All because, I suppose, there was a different audience to inspire us every night."

"They are all alike, it's not the play so much as the audience. For instance, I used to loathe my part in 'The Celebrated Case', but the minute I appeared on the stage before the audience I was completely lost in my part."

"It's not so with films. In most cases one never knows what it is all about until after the picture has been photographed and released to the public."

NAZIMOVA IN "THE BRAT" AT STRAND THEATRE

Nazimova, the phenomenal Russian artiste, in her latest screen production will be the attraction par excellence at the Strand theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. In "The Brat" Nazimova will be presented in the dual role of star and dramatist, for it was she, in collaboration with Charles Bryant, who adapted Maude Fulton's sensational stage success for her own use in the name role. June Mathis Diache directed the production under wrote the scenario and Herbert the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger, director general.

"The Brat" will show Nazimova for the first time in her brilliant career in the part of an American girl. Latin and other foreign types had been considered Nazimova's metier; but she is said to amaze even her warmest admirers by her remarkable impersonation of the nameless waif of the streets around whom the dramatic action of "The Brat" revolves.

WEAVER CLUB OUT WITH DEFINITIVE

Claim Second Rating In City and Challenge Grands for Game—Will Put Up Purse.

Members of Jack McLaughlin's Weaver team contend that they rate second in the football standing among city teams. And McLaughlin is sponsor for the statement that the Weavers are willing to prove their rights to the glory by defeating the Grands, who but recently were defeated for the city championship.

Evidently from a communication received from the Weaver club the Grands cancelled their game with them for the coming Sunday and now the former hint that there may be "reasons."

Here is the Weaver communication: To Sporting Editor, Review.

We wish that you would put a challenge in your paper to the Grands football team as we would like very much to play them. We had a game scheduled with them for this coming Sunday but they cancelled for unknown reason. If the Grands think they are the best they can make a little piece of change by accepting this challenge and defeating the Weavers.

Signed, the Weaver Football Team: Jack McLaughlin, coach; Moore, Wilson, Haney, Hunselman, Bailey, Montford, Horton, Mayer, H. Kinsey, W. Kinsey, Pollock, Merchant, Gorace, Broadbent, Strivson, Pickel, Jackson, Aldridge, Morton, Parnon, McConnell, Osborne, Price, Moun, Carey, Watkins and Dietz.

HARVARD MEETS PRINCETON TEAM

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 8.—Harvard and Princeton resumed their football relations here today after a lapse of two years occasioned by its war.

Not since 1911, when Sam White made Nassau history by grabbing a blocked kick and running ninety-five yards through a broken field for a touchdown, have the Tigers produced a team that has beaten the Crimson.

This year the orange supporters devoutly believe the tide has turned. The Tiger eleven that enters the Stadium this afternoon is considered the best in ten years. It is a "fighting" team. Bill Roper has instilled into his squad the belief that fight and football are synonymous. And how well that theory has worked out in the squad was strikingly illustrated two weeks ago when the Tigers held the crack Colgate eleven for downs when two more feet meant a Colgate touchdown.

For years the Princeton eleven have wandered in the wilderness of defeat. Each year they have started well only to wither under November's frost and go down to defeat at the hands of Yale and Harvard. Each year the grads and undergraduates have had to be content with mournful shaking of heads and mutterings of "next year." Today they believe that this is the next year for which have waited so long.

Not so much is known about the Princeton team this year as in former years. Harvard has played her games this year against eleven teams that were largely "set ups" for a strong aggregation. That Harvard is strong there can be no denying, for Princeton eleven all-ways are that way, but there is little comparative dope. The Tigers and Harvard have not met a common opponent from which anything could be "doped." The Tigers, however, have played a stiffer schedule and come through it with but one defeat—at the hands of Colgate, which is no disgrace, for Colgate has the crack team of the east this season.

Princeton's hopes are largely placed on Matty Trimble, who plays as right half. He is the best Princeton backfield man in years. Down here they say that any All-American line-up which does not contain his name should be viewed with suspicion.

The Harvard-Princeton battle record since 1911, when they resumed football relations after a lapse of fifteen years, follows:

1911—Harvard 0, Princeton 8. 1912—Harvard 16, Princeton 6. 1913—Harvard 3, Princeton 0. 1914—Harvard 20, Princeton 0. 1915—Harvard 10, Princeton 6. 1916—Harvard 3, Princeton 0. 1917—No game (war). 1918—No game (war). Total—Harvard 58, Princeton 20.

From 1883 to 1896 eight games were played, of which Princeton won seven.

GRANDS READY FOR NEXT GAME

The Grands and the Union A. C. of Wheeling will meet Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at West End park, according to an announcement Saturday by Manager John Callahan.

The Grands wound up their week's practice Friday night with an intensive practice session at city park. The regular lineup will be used against the West Virginians.

POLLARD SIGNS WITH INDIANS

AKRON, Nov. 8.—Aaron's professional football team announces the signing of "Fritz" Pollard, famous negro halfback, who starred for Brown University in 1917, winning an all-American berth. He will play Sunday for the Indians against the Tigers of Massillon.

Pollard last month matriculated at the University of Pennsylvania, where he is finishing a course in medicine. He is not eligible for the red and blue varsity, but has been working on the scrub eleven. Pollard's signing with Akron is doubted by some as Penn officials declare that the negro will make an effort to be on the varsity in 1920 as he has another year at the Philadelphia institution.

TWO BIG GAMES IN STATE RACE

Championship aspirations will be either nourished or killed by two important games in Ohio today.

At Columbus Ohio State will stack up against Purdue. A defeat would put an awful dent in the hopes of State for western conference honors. Dr. Wilce will send a crippled eleven into the game but Captain "Chic" Harley will be there with his educated toe and supporters of State confidently expect a decisive victory over Purdue. A big crowd will see the game at Columbus this afternoon.

Down at Wooster the undefeated

STAR BILLIARDISTS PLAY 69 INNINGS

CLEVELAND, Nov. 8.—It required 69 innings for Pierre Maupome, veteran billiardist, to defeat Tiff Denton, Kansas City, dark-horse entrant in the National Three Cushion Billiard Tournament last night. The score was 50 to 47, Denton leading until the 68th inning. Bob Cannefax defeated Charles Otis, 50 to 38 in 53 innings.

Bowling

The China Works won two out of three games from the McLean Rubber Co. last evening at the Grand alley in the industrial duck pin league. The feature of the evening was the rolling of Hi Allison, laying seven strikes in a row in the record game. Allison also broke the league high score of 211 and also led high average of 163. The score follows:

China Works.
Morgan	110	122	111
Towler	102	107	101
Conley	109	115	83
Merchant	103	68	105
Allison	148	211	139
Totals	572	623	538

McLean Rubber Co.

B. Wolfe	127	107	102
Hancuff	101	107	96
Emery	110	121	70
T. Wucher	124	92	114
White	114	154	125
Totals	576	581	507

There will be a meeting held at the Grand alley Monday for all the captains to be present at the Independent duck pin league at 8:30.

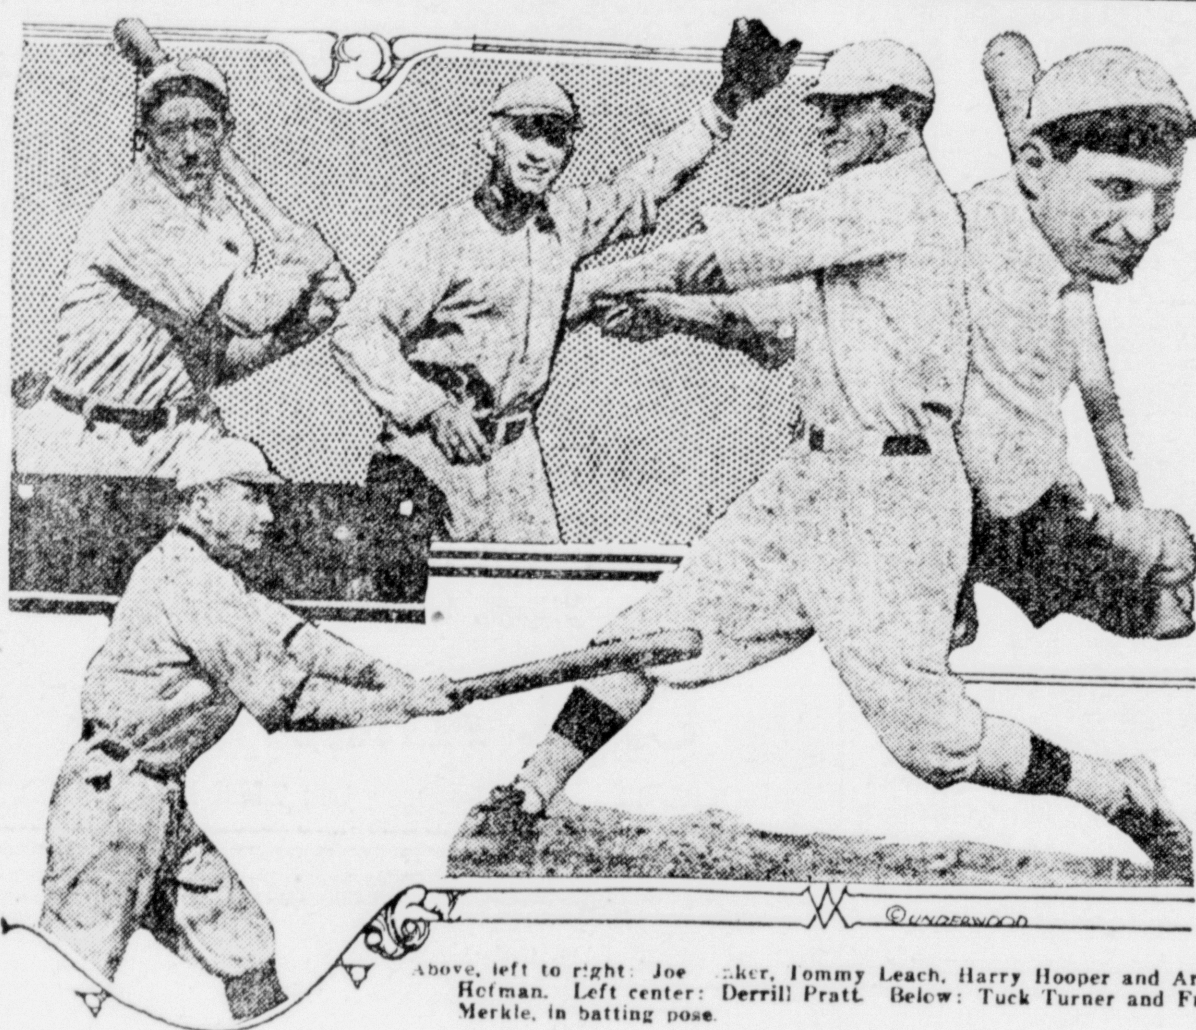

eleven of Wooster and Akron University come together. Wooster has been playing great football all season and the Akronites have shown up unusually strong in all their games. The clash this afternoon will put one of the eleven out of the running for the Ohio conference honors.

Oberlin will have an easy time of it with Hiram today. There are no other important games scheduled although practically all teams in the state are playing today.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusts did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find complete cure without operation, if you write to me. Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 375 P. Marcelle avenue, Mansfield, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of ruptures and the worry and danger of an operation.

STARS PROVE HITTING ISN'T EVERYTHING IN BASEBALL

The "first thing I can usually want to know is a new owner in baseball is 'Can he hit?' Hitting is generally accepted as one of the prime requisites of a major league player. And yet there are stars in the game's history who have overcome the term of years although they failed to stay long in the 300 class of hitters. Some of them are still able to hit 300 or better only once in the list are Joe Tinker, Tuck Turner, Artie Merkle, Harry Hooper, Jake Stahl, Tommy Leach and Joe Birmingham.

Derrill Pratt, one of the young players in the game today, is recognized as a brilliant performer and a valuable asset to a club although he has hit 300 only once.

In the ranks of the stars for years although they failed to stay in the 300 class of hitters. Many of the brilliant players of the game managed to break into the select circle only once in their careers.

Here is a partial list of these one-time stars and the years in which they made the grade:

Harry Hooper	.....	311	in 1911
Jake Stahl	.....	301	in 1912
Bob Bescher	.....	333	in 1913
Joe Birmingham	.....	304	in 1913
Scops Carey	.....	316	in 1902
Tommy Leach	.....	303	in 1907
Fred Merkle	.....	309	in 1912
Derrill Pratt	.....	302	in 1912

Joe Tinker ..... 317 in 1913
Terry Turner ..... 308 in 1912
Cactus Cravath ..... 341 in 1913
Tommy Corcoran ..... 302 in 1894
Jim Slagle ..... 313 in 1902

Terry Turner's career lasted fifteen years. Joe Tinker almost failed to enter the select class at all. It was not until his last year in the old league at Cincinnati—that he came through.

Fred Merkle and Harry Hooper have taken part in a slew of world series games and have starred in them without a 300 average back of them. Truly the list is an illuminating one.

Only A Cold.

Are you ill? It is often answered—"Oh it's only a cold," as if a cold was a matter of little consequence, but people are beginning to learn that a common cold is a matter not to be trifled with, that some of the most serious diseases start with a cold. As soon as the first indication of a cold appears take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Remember that the sooner you get rid of your cold the less the danger, and this remedy will help you to throw it off.

BENNY LEONARD MAY FIGHT TENDLER IN TULSA

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, will probably defend his title in the near future in a fifteen round decision bout at Tulsa, Okla. John Reiser, better known to the New York fight fans as John Barber, who conducts the boxing club in the western city, has signed Benny to meet any one he (Reiser) picks for him, and from all appearances Lew Tendler, the Philadelphia lightweight, will be the one selected.

ENGLAND'S WAR ON RATS PROVING SUCCESSFUL

LONDON—Casualties are mounting high in England's war on rats, which has been in full swing for some time. Two methods have been introduced: first, poison gas; second, plants. The red squill, a bulbous plant of Mediterranean shores proves fatal to rats if they eat it but doesn't harm domestic animals.

A match between Leonard and some time, the only drawback to the Tendler has been hanging fire for bout being a difference in weight. Benny declares now that he is ready to take on Tendler at Tulsa or any other boy who is anxious for a chance at his crown.

Leonard is anxious to get into a championship battle, and as he has a long-standing grudge against Tendler he is hoping Reiser selects this lad as his opponent.

Dr. W. M. Willoughby port medical officer says it is quite usual to find from 200 to 300 rats in ships arriving from other ports. When cargoes are discharged upper decks are sealed and the hull filled with sulphur dioxide which is heavier than air and sure death to rats.

The paper output of America is the largest in the world.

CORD TIRE CO. BONUS SYSTEM

Retroactive to November 1, the Cord Tire corporation of Chester has inaugurated a six-months bonus system under which every loyal employee of the concern is to be awarded stock in the corporation.

A block of stock will be set aside twice a year to be given without cost to employees in all departments of the works who have served the concern loyally for at least the six months previous to the distribution of the bonus. The size of the shares will depend upon the length of service of the individual.

Irving Fair, of Chester, for a number of years connected with a large Akron rubber tire corporation, has been elected a director in the Cord Tire corporation and has assumed active charge of the factory. He succeeds J. T. Johnston, who has returned to Akron. Attorney Walter B. Hill of East Liverpool, has also been elected to the board of directors of the corporation.

The corporation located in Chester six months ago, leasing the old plant of the Kansas City Tire and Rubber company. During that period it has made and marketed 7,500 tires, all of which have proven satisfactory, according to Harry Powers, one of the heads of the concern. There are enough orders on the books of the concern to operate in full for the next year.

The company has just awarded the sales territory covering New York state, France, England and Norway and is preparing to increase its production to take care of foreign business. The plant now has an employed personnel of 80 and a daily production of 75 tires.
